Family physician: Dr. J. Chow

Identification:

47 Married woman (John Kiska), 2 children (6 yo and 5 yo), works as a financial consultant from home.

Reason for referral:

Rule out mania/psychosis

History of Presenting Illness:

Information was provided by Ms. Moore's husband, John Kiska, as Ms. Moore was too sedated to be interviewed.

★ Ms Moore's husband says that her bizarre behaviour began 2 weeks ago. She suddenly became obsessed with the idea of taking a last minute vacation with her children. She started sending multiple emails to her husband each day about planning the trip. He presents a large stack of her email which he described as very disorganized and bizarre. She booked a vacation starting on March 6, which he found to be very impulsive for her. She also had uncharacteristic plans to get a live-in nanny, although her husband refuted this because he says it is not necessary since she works from home and they have a housekeeper 25 hours a week. In the past week, she developed plans to start a "mental health company" and started sending inappropriate emails to several people about this business idea, including the teachers of her children. She even went to their school to talk to the Vice Principle about her ideas. Her husband suspects that she was very disorganized when talking to the VP, because it prompted the VP to contact the Children's Aid Society, who made a home visit on Friday during which she was very pressured in her speech.

In the recent days, she has been saying that she is going to "solve the world's problems" and her husband describes her as being grandiose. She plans to write a book called "How I bullied the bully out of my husband" and has sent several emails to people she doesn't know about this book idea. Her husband describes referential thinking and grandiosity on Saturday, when she made an elaborate collage about "J.C.", which are the initial of a man involved in the murder suicide in Sittsville. She told her husband that J.C. really means Jesus Christ and that it means that she was chosen to solve the world's problems. Yesterday in the washroom at home, she coloured with marker over about 20 sanitary napkins while taking pictures of herself. Her husband found this very bizarre and brought them to PES to demonstrate her behaviour. Her husband has observed that she was talking to herself and to dead family members over the past couple of days.

True but not mania
... phh

FALSE

Her husband denies any illegal, risky or dangerous activity. Despite her lack of sleep since Wednesday, she has been driving a car - she picked her children up from school on Friday.

Her sleep has been very poor – he estimates that she has only slept 5 hours total over the past 5 days. She usually only sleeps 5 hours a night. She spends her nights writing emails, calling people and giving them inappropriate personal information (e.g. children's teachers), making business plans for her mental health company and plans for her book, and planning a vacation. She has not eaten very much in the past few days. She has drank more coffee than usual in the past week. Her husband says she has not drank alcohol since last weekend.

Her husband is not aware of any specific trigger, however she was upset by a murder-suicide that happened in Stittsville in January 2013. One night in January, she started crying suddenly and said she was upset about the murder-suicide incident. He denies any recent infection, medications, or medical issues. She has not had her period in the past 2 months but he believes she is at the beginning of menopause. See Tab 1

Her husband has known her for 18 years and says he has never observed similar behaviour. He is also not aware of any depressive episodes in the past. I spoke to Ms. Moore's father, Charlie Moore, who is currently staying at their home. He says that her only episode of mental health issues occurred when she was 15-16 years old. She had difficulty at school and cut her wrists, which prompted a visit to CHEO. She was not admitted but saw a psychiatrist several times at CHEO but never received medication. Mr. Moore and his wife (pt's mother) are not aware of any periods of decreased need for sleep or increased goal directed activity. They are also not aware of any depression in the past.

History of Present Illness:

Terms & Conditions

Interest charges - We calculate interest on purchases, cash advances and fees, from the date of the transaction or the date we receive payment in full. We never charge interest on interest charges. We don't charge interest on purchases and fees appearing on your account statement for the first time if you pay your rate balance in full by the payment due date. You must pay interest on all cash advances. See your card cover for the number of grace days that apply to your account.

How we calculate interest - The interest rate we charge on the account each advance and purchase interest rates shown on the card cover, or any amendment we make to those rates, which will be provided to you in writing. The annual and daily rates appear on your account statement. See your Cardholder Agreement for a detailed explanation of how interest is calculated.

How we apply payments to your account - When we receive a payment, we apply it to your account as outlined in your Cardholder Agreement. Your payments are processed the day we receive them. You must make sure that we receive your payment on or before the payment due date shown on your account statement.

Make minimum payments - You may pay your account balance in full at any time. If you don't pay in full, you must make one of the following minimum payments by the payment due date shown on your account statement:

- the full amount of the new balance if it is $10 or less, or
- the minimum payment amount shown on your account statement if the new balance is more than $10. The minimum payment amount is a percentage of the new balance on your account statement. The percentage is shown on the card cover or in any notice we may send you.

Foreign currency transactions - If you have a Canadian dollar MasterCard, we convert transactions, including refunds, made in a foreign currency to Canadian dollars. If you have a U.S. dollar MasterCard, we convert transactions, including refunds, made in a currency other than U.S. dollars to U.S. dollars. We state the conversion of our purchase exchange rate in effect on the day the transaction is posted to your account. Our purchase exchange rate may not be the same as the rate that was in effect on the transaction date.

For foreign currency transaction refunds, we state the conversion of our refund exchange rate on the date the refund is posted to your account. Our refund exchange rate may not be the same as the rate that was in effect on the date the transaction was initiated. The difference between our purchase exchange rate and our refund exchange rate means that the amount credited to your account for a refund of a foreign currency transaction will be less than the original amount charged to your account for the transaction.

Estimated Time to Repay - In calculating the number of years and months required to repay an account balance shown on an account statement if you pay only the minimum payment due each month on the payment due date, we assume that the current interest rate for purchases will apply throughout the repayment period. We also use such other assumptions as we require or permitted by applicable law.
